A BUSY WEEK.

Jackson is always a center of interest during the legislative session, and all eyes will be focused on the Capital City this week. Many important bills are to come up, and on the fate of these bills the fondest hopes and desires of many people depend. The first few weeks that the legislature is in session is what would be termed in theatrical parlance "a preliminary season." The time is devoted to skirmishes and mental exploring expeditions, in order that the find out how the members stand before formulating their views into bills and allowing the documents to go before the lawmakers for ratification or rejection.

About the only really important measure that has so far been finally acted upon was that creating statutory prohibition. senate to confirm President Roosevelt's appointment of Hon. Oscar W. Hundley as judge of Northern Federal Court district of Alabama and the subsequent investigation of the WELL KNOWN PHILANTHROPIST case by a sub-committee of the senate judiciary committee, has aroused a great deal of interest in the political circles of our neighboring State. Judge Hundley was a staunch Demoerat up to 1896, and gave as a reason for having deserted the party that he was not in sympathy with the free silver plank which was inserted in the platform twelve years ago. When advocates of important measures can the judge made this statement before the sub-committee, Congressman Richardson, who is fighting against the confirmation of the appointment, read a letter which Hundley wrote to the Progressive Age in Scottsboro, Ala., in which he expressed profound acquiescence in the free silver move-
